Attendance page Framework of Reference for Languages) Acquisition of a working knowledge of the German language system, its structure and functions on a synchronized level, building skills in observation and analysis of concepts and elements of the German language in order to facilitate proper comprehension and the finding of proper translation equivalents. Advancement of communication skills in the German language. Development of integrated language sh and linguistic structures along with communicative abilities in German in both written and spoken forms skill development in interpreting different aspects of written texts from both general and catechetical literature as well as from everyday life, participation in conversation and oral expositions on themes from both the textbook and from life, expressing one's faith, emotions, and wishes. Forming theological-pastoral students in professional skills in the relevant areas of language, communication, sociolinguistics, and translation in informative, formative, and operative aspects (concretely, mastery of the German Language in passive, active-passive, and active forms of expression actual professional contexts) to the B1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Course content Phonetic, phonological, and prosodic features of the German language. Paradigms (basic concepts and elements) of the German language. Most frequently used grammatical constructions. Clausal syntax and sentence syntax. Theological vocabulary and spiritual texts. Basic features of theological terminology a terminology of related disciplines. Informational styles for use in publication in the communications and mission of the Church-intra- and extralinguistic considerations. Informational writing: official letters, liturgical texts, short informational pieces, general information, reports of events, examining the writings publishers of spiritual works (websites, radio and TV programs), announcements for the general public issues by the Church, intra- and extralin	COURSE DESCRIPTION
Type and level of studies Gourse name Germa Language 1 Teacher/Associate (exercises) Teacher/Associate (exercises) Teacher/Associate (exercises) Teacher/Associate (additional forms of Course status (obligatory/elective) Must already have a knowledge of the German language from previous educational experience at a lev sufficient for acquiring the academic competencies of the course (the A2 level of the Common Europea Framework of Reference for Languages) Acquisition of a working knowledge of the German language system, its structure and functions on a synchronized level, building skills in observation and analysis of concepts and elements of the German language in order to facilitate proper comprehension and the finding of proper translation equivalents. Advancement of communication skills in the German language, Development of integrated languages is all inquisition structures along with communicative abilities in German in both written and spoken forms skill development in integreting different aspects of written texts from both general and catechetical interature as well as from everyday life, participation in conversation and oral expositions on themes fron both the textbook and from life, expressing one's faith, emotions, and wishes. Forming theological-pastoral students in professional skills in the relevant areas of language, ourcommunication, sociolinguistics, and translation equation in informative, formative, and operative aspects (concretely, mastery of the German Language in passive, active-passive, and active forms of expressional contexts) to the B1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Course content Lectures Lec		n		Theological-pastoral program	Theological-pastoral program
German Language 1 Tascher (lectures) Zorana Kozomarić, foreign language instructor Zorana Kozomarić, foreign language from previous educational experience at a lev Zorana Language system, its structure and functions on a synchronized level, building skills in observation and analysis of concepts and elements of the German language in order to facilitate proper comprehension and the finding of proper translation equivalents. Zorana Language, Development of integrated language Zorana Language, Zorana Language
Teacher/Associate (exercises) Taccher/Associate (exercises) Tacch
Teacher/Associate (exercises) Теаcher/Associate (additional forms of Teacher/Associate (additional forms of Teacher) Attendance p State (additional forms of Teacher) Acquisition of a working knowledge of the German language system, its structure and functions on a synchronized level, building skills in observation and analysis of concepts and elements of the German language in order to facilitate proper comprehension and the finding of proper translation equivalents. Advancement of communication skills in the German language. Development of integrated language system, its structure and functions on a skill development in interpreting different aspects of written texts from both general and catechetical literature as well as from everyday life, participation in conversation and oral expositions on themes from both the textbook and from life, expressing one's faith, emotions, and wishes. Forming theological-pastoral students in professional skills in the relevant areas of language, communication, sociolinguistics, and translation in Informative, formative, and operative aspects (concretely, mastery of the German Language in passive, active-passive, and active forms of expressional contexts) to the B1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Course content Phonetic, phonological, and prosodic features of the German language. Paradigms (basic concepts and elements) of the German language, Most frequently used grammatical constructions. Clausal syntax are sentence syntax. Theological vocabulary and spiritual texts. Basic features of theological terminology a terminology of related disciplines. Informational styles for use in publication in the co Teacher/Associate (additional forms of ECTS 7 Course status (obligatory/elective) Obligatory elective Must already have a knowledge of the German language from previous educational experience at a lev sufficient for acquiring the academic competencies of the course (the A2 level of the Common Europea Framework of Reference for Languages) Acquisition of a working knowledge of the German language system, its structure and functions on a synchronized level, building skills in observation and analysis of concepts and elements of the German language in order to facilitate proper comprehension and the finding of proper translation equivalents. Advancement of communication skills in the German language, Development of integrated language is add linguistic structures along with communicative abilities in German in both written and spoken forms skill development in interpreting different aspects of written texts from both general and catechetical literature as well as from everyday life, participation in conversation and oral expositions on themes fror both the textbook and from life, expressing one's faith, emotions, and wishes. Forming theological-pastoral students in professional skills in the relevant areas of language, communication, sociolinguistics, and translation in informative, formative, and operative aspects (concretely, mastery of the German Language in passive, active-passive, and active forms of expression actual professional contexts) to the B1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Course content Phonetic, phonological, and prosodic features of the German language, Paradigms (basic concepts and elements) of the German language. Most frequently used grammatical constructions. Clausal syntax are sentence syntax. Theological vocabulary and spiritual texts. Basic features of theological terminology of related disciplines. Informational styles for use in publication in the communications and mission of the Church. Interactional professional styles for use in publication in t
Attendance p Acquisition of a working knowledge of the German language system, its structure and functions on a yochronized level, building skills in observation and analysis of concepts and elements of the German language in order to facilitate proper comprehension and the finding of proper translation equivalents and Advancement of communication skills in the German language. Development of integrated language shall ilterature as well as from everyday life, participation in conversation and oral expositions on themes from both the textbook and from life, expressing one's faith, emotions, and wishes. Forming theological-pastoral students in professional skills in the relevant areas of language, communication, sociolinguistics, and translation in informative, formative, and operative aspects (concretely, mastery of the German Language in passive, active-passive, and active forms of expressional contexts) to the B1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Course content Phonetic, phonological, and prosodic features of the German language. Paradigms (basic concepts and elements) of the German language, Most frequently used grammatical constructions. Clausal syntax are sentence syntax. Theological vocabulary and spiritual texts. Basic features of theological terminology of related disciplines. Informational styles for use in publication in the communications and mission of the Church- intra- and extralinguistic considerations. Informational writing: official letters, bubbles of spiritual works (websites, radio and TV programs), announcements for the general public itsue in the fift of the Church, announcements, invitations: analytical writing style: introductions, commentaries, reviews, critical				Zorana Kozomanc, loreign language instructor
Must aiready have a knowledge of the German language from previous educational experience at a lev sufficient for acquiring the academic competencies of the course (the A2 level of the Common Europea Framework of Reference for Languages) Acquisition of a working knowledge of the German language system, its structure and functions on a synchronized level, building skills in observation and analysis of concepts and elements of the German language in order to facilitate proper comprehension and the finding of proper translation equivalents. Advancement of communication skills in the German language, Development of integrated languages is and linguistic structures along with communicative abilities in German in both written and spoken forms skill development in interpreting different aspects of written texts from both general and catechetical literature as well as from everyday life, participation in conversation and oral expositions on themes fror both the textbook and from life, expressing one's faith, emotions, and wishes. Forming theological-pastoral students in professional skills in the relevant areas of language, communication, sociolinguistics, and translation in informative, formative, and operative aspects (concretely, mastery of the German Language in passive, active-passive, and active forms expressional contexts) to the B1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Course content Phonetic, phonological, and prosodic features of the German language. Paradigms (basic concepts and elements) of the German language most professional spritual exits. Basic features of theological elements of the German language and spritual exits. Basic features of theological elements of the Otherch. The communications and elements) of the German language Most frequently used grammatical constructions. Clausal syntax sentence syntax. Theological vocabulary and applications, Informational writing; official terminology of related disciplines. Informational styles for use in publication in the commu					Obligatory elective
synchronized level, building skills in observation and analysis of concepts and elements of the German language in order to facilitate proper comprehension and the finding of proper translation equivalents. Advancement of communication skills in the German language. Development of integrated language in diagnosistic structures along with communicative abilities in German in both written and spoken forms skill development in interpreting different aspects of written texts from both general accetebical literature as well as from everyday life, participation in conversation and oral expositions on themes from both the textbook and from life, expressing one's faith, emotions, and wishes. Forming theological-pastoral students in professional skills in the relevant areas of language, communication, sociolinguistics, and translation in informative, formative, and operative aspects of concretely, mastery of the German Language in passive, active-passive, and active forms of expression actual professional contexts) to the B1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Course content Phonetic, phonological, and prosodic features of the German language. Paradigms (basic concepts and elements) of the German language. Most frequently used grammatical constructions. Clausal syntax and sentence syntax. Theological vocabulary and spiritual texts. Basic features of theological terminology of related disciplines. Informational styles for use in publication in the communications and mission of the Church- intra- and extralinguistic considerations. Informational mriting: official letters, litturgical texts, short informational pieces, general information, reports of events, examinating the writings publishers of spiritual works (websites, radio and TV programs), announcements for the general public issues by the Church hierarchy and church organizations, interviews with clergy, reports about events in the life of the Church, announcements, invitations; analytical writing syle: introductions, commenta	Attendance p	Must already have a knowledge of the German language from previous educational experience at a level sufficient for acquiring the academic competencies of the course (the A2 level of the Common European
Learning outcomes communication, sociolinguistics, and translation in informative, formative, and operative aspects (concretely, mastery of the German Language in passive, active-passive, and active forms of expression actual professional contexts) to the B1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages. Course content Phonetic, phonological, and prosodic features of the German language. Paradigms (basic concepts and elements) of the German language. Most frequently used grammatical constructions. Clausal syntax are sentence syntax. Theological vocabulary and spiritual texts. Basic features of theological terminology a terminology of related disciplines. Informational styles for use in publication in the communications and mission of the Church- intra- and extralinguistic considerations. Informational prices, general information, reports of events, examining the writing publishers of spiritual works (websites, radio and TV programs), announcements for the general public issues by the Church hierarchy and church organizations, interviews with clergy, reports about events in the life of the Church, announcements, invitations: analytical writing style: introductions, commentaries, reviews, critical articles, reviews by religious publishers, electronic and other media; literary style: literar journals about the faith, spirituality, and life of the Church. Practical classes (exercises, additional forms of classes, research work) Theological educational institutions in German-speaking lands. The organization and mission of the Ro Catholic, Protestant, and Orthodox churches: their activities in both the present and in tradition. Spiritual works published in German and Serbian: theological journals, books, digital materia mass media. German and Serbian spiritual literature. Famous libraries in German and Serbian lands. German and Serbian sacred visual art	Course objectives	synchronized level, building skills in observation and analysis of concepts and elements of the German language in order to facilitate proper comprehension and the finding of proper translation equivalents. Advancement of communication skills in the German language. Development of integrated language skills and linguistic structures along with communicative abilities in German in both written and spoken forms, skill development in interpreting different aspects of written texts from both general and catechetical literature as well as from everyday life, participation in conversation and oral expositions on themes from
Phonetic, phonological, and prosodic features of the German language. Paradigms (basic concepts and elements) of the German language. Most frequently used grammatical constructions. Clausal syntax and sentence syntax. Theological vocabulary and spiritual texts. Basic features of theological terminology a terminology of related disciplines. Informational styles for use in publication in the communications and mission of the Church-intra- and extralinguistic considerations. Informational writing: official letters, liturgical texts, short informational pieces, general information, reports of events, examining the writings publishers of spiritual works (websites, radio and TV programs), announcements for the general public issues by the Church hierarchy and church organizations, interviews with clergy, reports about events in the life of the Church, announcements, invitations: analytical writing style: introductions, commentaries, reviews, critical articles, reviews by religious publishers, electronic and other media; literary style: literar journals about the faith, spirituality, and life of the Church. Practical classes (exercises, additional dispersion of the control of t	Learning outcomes	communication, sociolinguistics, and translation in informative, formative, and operative aspects (concretely, mastery of the German Language in passive, active-passive, and active forms of expression in actual professional contexts) to the B1 level of the Common European Framework of Reference for
Phonetic, phonological, and prosodic features of the German language. Paradigms (basic concepts and elements) of the German language. Most frequently used grammatical constructions. Clausal syntax and sentence syntax. Theological vocabulary and spiritual texts. Basic features of theological terminology at terminology of related disciplines. Informational styles for use in publication in the communications and mission of the Church-intra- and extralinguistic considerations. Informational writing: official letters, liturgical texts, short informational pieces, general information, reports of events, examining the writings publishers of spiritual works (websites, radio and TV programs), announcements for the general public issues by the Church hierarchy and church organizations, interviews with clergy, reports about events in the life of the Church, announcements, invitations: analytical writing style: introductions, commentaries, reviews, critical articles, reviews by religious publishers, electronic and other media; literary style: literar journals about the faith, spirituality, and life of the Church. Practical classes (exercises, additional didional didional didional didional forms of classes) and control of the c	Course conte	nt
Classes (exercises, additional forms of classes, research work) Literature 1 Jelena Končarević, Praktikum iz gramatike nemačkog jezika. Filozofski fakultet, Beograd, 1997. 2 Jelena Končarević, Deutsch als Fachsprache der Geisteswissenschaften. Filozofski fakultet, Belgrade, 1997. 3 Марија Јандроковић, Немачко-српски и српско-немачки теолошки речник. Београд, Хришћански културни центар, 2007. 4 Franz Geschwantner, Christian Gastgeber: Die Ostikirchen in Wien, Stryia Vertag, Vienna, 2004. 5 Gabriele und Manfred Richter: Interessantes, Kurioses, Wissenswertes, Vertag für Deutsch als Fremdsprache, Max Huber Verlag, Ismaning 2002.	Lectures	mission of the Church- intra- and extralinguistic considerations. Informational writing: official letters, liturgical texts, short informational pieces, general information, reports of events, examining the writings of publishers of spiritual works (websites, radio and TV programs), announcements for the general public issues by the Church hierarchy and church organizations, interviews with clergy, reports about events in the life of the Church, announcements, invitations: analytical writing style: introductions, commentaries, reviews, critical articles, reviews by religious publishers, electronic and other media; literary style: literary
1 Jelena Končarević, Praktikum iz gramatike nemačkog jezika. Filozofski fakultet, Beograd, 1997. 2 Jelena Končarević, Deutsch als Fachsprache der Geisteswissenschaften. Filozofski fakultet, Belgrade, 1997. 3 Марија Јандроковић, Немачко-српски и српско-немачки теолошки речник. Београд, Хришћански културни центар, 2007. 4 Franz Geschwantner, Christian Gastgeber: Die Ostikirchen in Wien, Stryia Vertag, Vienna, 2004. 5 Gabriele und Manfred Richter: Interessantes, Kurioses, Wissenswertes, Vertag für Deutsch, Ismaning 1994. 6 Axel Hering, Magdalena Massek, Michaela Primann- Balme: em Übungsgrammatik Deutsch als Fremdsprache, Max Huber Verlag, Ismaning 2002.	classes (exercises, additional forms of classes, research work)	traditions. Spiritual works published in German and Serbian: theological journals, books, digital materials, mass media. German and Serbian spiritual literature. Famous libraries in German and Serbian lands. German and Serbian sacred visual arts (painting, icons, frescoes, restoration, conservation), music, films,
2 Jelena Končarević, Deutsch als Fachsprache der Geisteswissenschaften. Filozofski fakultet, Belgrade, 1997. Марија Јандроковић, Немачко-српски и српско-немачки теолошки речник. Београд, Хришћански културни центар, 2007. 4 Franz Geschwantner, Christian Gastgeber: Die Ostikirchen in Wien, Stryia Vertag, Vienna, 2004. Gabriele und Manfred Richter: Interessantes, Kurioses, Wissenswertes, Vertag für Deutsch, Ismaning 1994. Axel Hering, Magdalena Massek, Michaela Primann- Balme: em Übungsgrammatik Deutsch als Fremdsprache, Max Huber Verlag, Ismaning 2002.		Jelena Konča	arević. Prakti	kum iz gramatike nemačkog jezika. Filozo	fski fakultet, Beograd, 1997
1997. 3 Марија Јандроковић, Немачко-српски и српско-немачки теолошки речник. Београд, Хришћански културни центар, 2007. 4 Franz Geschwantner, Christian Gastgeber: Die Ostikirchen in Wien, Stryia Vertag, Vienna, 2004. Gabriele und Manfred Richter: Interessantes, Kurioses, Wissenswertes, Vertag für Deutsch, Ismaning 1994. Axel Hering, Magdalena Massek, Michaela Primann- Balme: em Übungsgrammatik Deutsch als Fremdsprache, Max Huber Verlag, Ismaning 2002.	2	Jelena Končarević, Deutsch als Fachsprache der Geisteswissenschaften. Filozofski fakultet, Belgrade,
4 Franz Geschwantner, Christian Gastgeber: Die Ostikirchen in Wien, Stryia Vertag, Vienna, 2004. Gabriele und Manfred Richter: Interessantes, Kurioses, Wissenswertes, Vertag für Deutsch, Ismaning 1994. Axel Hering, Magdalena Massek, Michaela Primann- Balme: em Übungsgrammatik Deutsch als Fremdsprache, Max Huber Verlag, Ismaning 2002.	3	Марија Јандроковић, Немачко-српски и српско-немачки теолошки речник. Београд, Хришћански
Fremdsprache, Max Huber Verlag, Ismaning 2002.	5	Franz Geschwantner, Christian Gastgeber: Die Ostikirchen in Wien, Stryia Vertag, Vienna, 2004. Gabriele und Manfred Richter: Interessantes, Kurioses, Wissenswertes, Vertag für Deutsch, Ismaning 1994.
Number of hours per week
	Number of ho	urs per weel	k
Lectures Exercises forms of Research work Other classes	Lectures	Exercises	forms of	Research work	Other classes

1	1
Coursework werbal-textual, textual, demonstrative methods.
Knowledge evaluation (maximum number of points 100)
Pre-exam requirements		Points	Final exam	Points
Class activity		20	Written exam	20
Practical classes		20	Oral exam	20
Colloquia		10
Seminars		10					